Dear Brian,

As the emcee for the Credit and Collection Symposium of the Americas 2009 held most recently in Miami, Florida, I would like to thank you for your critical involvement with the event. Your assistance as a member of the Steering Committee and your insightful presentation provided attendees with a wealth of perspectives on the US Credit and Collection Industry.

I have always believed that the key to a successful conference is the formation of a high level Steering or Advisory Committee. Your notoriety in the industry as a speaker, consultant and advisor added a much needed resource to our programming process. The feedback was very positive from the conference participants relative to your presentation at the event. Both US and Latin American professionals found your comments to be of tremendous value.

As an active speaker/consultant myself I have witnessed your presence and presentations at many industry events across the country for years. You have always added a perspective to meetings held in high regard by our industry colleagues. I will most certainly recommend that you are part of the CCSA 2010 planning process and placed on our program once again.

Once again, many thanks for your assistance Brian and we'll be in touch.

Most sincerely yours,

Harry A. Strausser III, President
